

So far in lock-down...

Despite it being a tough year so far and having to adapt to the changing working environment, we have just reached 100 graduate placements during the lock-down period. Employers are still hiring for a range of roles, in various different sectors, with an average starting salary of £25,797 across all industries. Take a deeper look at some of these insights...

Sectors that graduates started working in

Job roles that graduates started in lockdown

